

First Call to the Workshop

Human Security, Innovative Models of Co-management, and Participation in Arctic Regions (The SEPA Project)

January 20 - January 21

Location: <https://comwell.com/en/hoteller/comwell-hotel-rebild-bakker>

The Aalborg University Business School (<https://www.business.aau.dk/>) is proud to invite senior and junior scholars to participate in the workshop. We encourage participants to contribute with a presentation of a paper to be published as proceedings from the workshop.

Call for Abstracts (100 words or fewer) and titles of papers. Deadline for abstract proposals to Gorm Winther (gormw@business.aau.dk), November 19, 2021

Deadline for registration to Jeanette Hvarregaard (jhvarre@business.aau.dk), December 4, 2021

Program

Day 1: The traditional security concept, hegemonism, and ethnocentrism

- Arrival at noon
- Keynote speakers
- Presentation of the project
- The warfare economy or the welfare economy - ethnocentric security discourses in the Arctic center economies.
- The security concept seen through the eyes of the indigenous and local Populace.

Day 2: Towards an enhanced security concept, human development, human security, local entrepreneurship, participatory management, and democratic business in the Arctic

- Cultural security, ethnocentrism, alienation,
- Food security
- Energy security and environmental security
- Economic security
- Human Security, human development and well being, sustainability and self-reliance
- Local innovations and entrepreneurship
- From the traditional to the new traditional economy
- Local participatory ownership and finance (co-management, regional corporations, SOEs, cooperatives, democratic business, non-profit organizations)
- Social enterprises

Others are to be announced with the second call.

Send suggestions to the program to Gorm Winther (gormw@business.ssu.dk), Jan Holm Ingemann ingemann@dps.aau.dk, or Søren Bitch (nordicbitsch@gmail.com).